Introduction:

The School of Economics, Commerce & Management, Martin Luther Christian University with 1917iTEAMS, Government of Meghalaya organised the Farmers' Market Event with the vision that such an event will bridge the existing gap between what the students learn and what is the reality vis-à-vis the agricultural sector in the state of Meghalaya. SECM with 1917iTEAMS conceptualized the event

SCHOOL OF ECONOMICS, COMMERCE AND MANAGEMENT
Martin Luther Christian University,
Shillong, Meghalaya

with the key objective that such an event will provide a common platform where students, experts and others stakeholders come together to share ideas, discuss the challenges and to come up with solutions to issues plaguing the agricultural sector of the state.

Summary of the programme:

The inauguration programme was graced by the chief guest, Ma'am Isawanda Laloo, IAS, Secretary of the Department of Agriculture and Farmers' Welfare, Government of Meghalaya. Ma'am VC. Prof. T. K. Bamon gave a warm welcome to the chief guest and address the audience on the importance and relevance of the Farmers' Market Event. The chief guest highlighted the importance of agriculture and the role of IT in expanding farmers' capabilities and access to markets. The Keynote speaker, Mr. Gavin Shullai, programme manager, 1917iTEAMS addressed the audience on Cultivating Success—Empowering Farmers' Future. The inauguration programme concluded with a song from the students of SECM which was an original composition by Kinitodari Ryngkhlem, a student from M. Com second semester.

The second session kicked off with a panel discussion on the theme 'Challenges and opportunities of Agriculture in Meghalaya'. Panelists included Dr. Clifford Warjri, Ivan Marbaniang, Baishisha Mukhim and Dr. H. H. Mohrmen. The moderator was Dr. Bhogtoram Mawroh. The second panel discussion included David Kharwanlang, Rodonald Majaw, H. P. Paul and the moderator was Dr. Marina B. Marwein, the Dean of SECM. Story telling from the farmers themselves followed after the panel discussions where Mr. Sping, a farmer from Nongknum entertained the students with his wit and humor.

The second day of the event started with the welcome address from Dr. P. Nongsiej, Head, Department of Management. Panel discussion on the theme 'Entrepreneurial Avenues in Agriculture—An Overview of Entrepreneurial Opportunities in Agriculture followed and panelists included Damechwa Lyngdoh of 1917iTEAMS, Dr. Hygina Siangbood, Raymond Lyngdoh and Mebari Nongrum of Rynsan Creation Pvt. Ltd. The second session of the 2nd day involved paper presentation where students from different departments of the University presented their findings in relation to their research in agriculture and allied sectors. Technical experts gave their suggestions and recommendations to improve the papers.

The event ended with the valedictory speech from Dr. Bhogtoram Mawroh where he heighted the importance of such an event and commented on the success of it.

Conclusion:

In conclusion, the programme was a resounding success. The students learnt about many things relating to the agricultural sector of Meghalaya. Farmers also had the opportunity to display their produce. Students and the public at large enjoyed the open market and indulged themselves in the fresh produce brought by the farmers from different regions of Meghalaya.
